Blending classic roots with a modern edge to reignite the spirit of Rock 'N' Roll on today's stages.

There's a reason Rock 'N' Roll never truly dies, and Softcase is here to prove that it's not just alive, it's evolving. Emerging from the heart of the Kitchener-Waterloo music scene in mid-2024, Softcase is a four-piece rock band that delivers the raw power and attitude of classic rock, reimagined with modern drive, precision, and edge. Heavily influenced by the greats; Led Zeppelin, Guns N' Roses, Arctic Monkeys, Foo Fighters, and more. Softcase bridges the gap between nostalgia and innovation. Their sound is tight, their energy is infectious, and their shows are as much about musicianship as they are about showmanship.

Comprising Tyler Schill (lead vocals/guitar), Lucas Lohrenz (guitar/bass), and Caleb Dodd (guitar/bass), Luke Collins (Drums), the members of Softcase bring years of experience to the stage. Each member has honed their craft through countless hours of rehearsals, performances, and a shared lifelong passion for music. Their bond as musicians and friends is the foundation of a sound that is polished yet powerful, built not only on talent but on trust, chemistry, and commitment.

Since forming in 2024, Softcase has quickly built a strong live reputation. In just a short time, they've headlined Maxwell's Concerts & Events in Waterloo, performed twice at the iconic Horseshoe Tavern in Toronto, and brought their high-energy to venues such as Dallas Nightclub in Kitchener, St Louis Bar & Grill, and more.

Softcase's mission is simple but ambitious: to bring Rock 'N' Roll back to the forefront of live music. Their shows feature a blend of classic rock anthems and original material, crafted to both honour the genre's roots and push its boundaries forward. They aim to be more than just a cover band or a nostalgic act Softcase is creating a new wave of rock that respects the past while carving out its own identity.

Because at the end of the day, great rock music doesn't go out of style. It just needs the right band to bring it back.
